Pimples... what are those?

Sure, I am in my twenties, but tell that to my skin. Sometimes I swear it still believes we are 15 and greasier than a Domino's pizza (and I am sorry, in my opinion the greasier the pizza the better! If you are going to be bad... be bad!) Anyway, I have probably tried hundreds of "breakout" products along the pimply road I have traveled. Some work. Most, not so much. Then I was introduced to Intra-ceuticals Clarity line. I had heard about it and wondered whether it lived up to the buzz.

As usual, I was skeptical. I even kind of sat on it for a few weeks. Eventually I was like, the situation that is happening on my cheek right now can't get any worse! So I went for it. Literally the next morning the red angry crater had shrunk at least 1/2 in size. It was like a skin miracle! AMAZING does not even begin to explain these products. I will break down the stars of the line now.

You always have to start with a clean slate. The Clarity Gel Cleanser is a lightweight gel cleanser (hence the name) that deep cleans the skin to remove excess oil dirt. This wonderful cleanser leaves your skin fresh and ready for the next Clarity step. $49

The Clarity Treatment Gel is fantastic. It is NOT GREASY in the slightest; it calms, clarifies and hydrates your skin. It is also anti-inflammatory, which reduces irritation caused by the pimples and reduces excess cell build up. $89

Clarity Blemish Repair pen is innovative and so easy to use. Its special applicator has a concentrated formula to target each blemish and help it heal faster. A potent blend of actives quickly helps reduce inflammation without drying or the dreaded flaking (makes it so hard to cover a pimple when it's crusty!). $89

I got to try all of these three products together and I can honestly say, they worked wonders for me and my perpetually-adolescent complexion. If your adult acne has outgrown your Stridex, Clean & Clear and Clearasil, this is the line you've been looking for.

As for that crater on my cheek... it's ancient history. ;)
