The Stars' Best-Kept ANTI-AGING SECRET

The special oxygen facial by O2 Intraceuticals has captivated Hollywood because of its ability to plump up the skin and turn back the clock of aging—and all without having to go under the knife.

Now that the treatments and products have reached our shores, OK! scored an exclusive interview with Intraceuticals' training manager, Patricia Steel (who trained Madonna's personal facialist). Here, Patricia tells us all about this amazing facial the stars are raving about.

A-listers like Madonna and Angelina Jolie are huge fans of Intraceuticals Facials. What makes it so sought-after?

This treatment is quite unique. It uses oxygen as a means to put [essential] ingredients into your skin. It uses Topical Hyperbaric Oxygen Technology, which basically creates a "pressure bubble" over your skin, to help increase the oxygen level on your skin and help it absorb the serum even better, so it doesn't just sit on the surface of your skin.

What is so special about the Intraceuticals Serums?

Your body naturally produces Hyaluronic Acid, which helps keep your skin moisturized and firm. As you get older, its production lessens and your skin becomes more dehydrated. Intraceuticals Serums aim to replenish your supply of Hyaluronic Acid, so you get moisturized and younger-looking skin. Because the Hyaluronic Acid contains a low molecular weight, which basically means that the size of the molecule is much smaller [than your pores], it can penetrate and be absorbed by the skin much faster.

Is it painful? Is there downtime?

It's not painful at all and there is absolutely no downtime, which is one of the reasons why it's also a popular treatment.

How many treatments do you need before you see results?

You'll begin to see results, like a glow and a slight lift, after the first treatment. To get the maximum results, you'll need to come in for a session once a week for six weeks.

What kind of results can you expect?

Because Intraceuticals Facials dramatically rehydrates your skin, you will appear younger, wrinkles will lighten, and your skin will look and feel more taut.
