

Intraceuticals skincare launches in India

Australian based skincare company Intraceuticals, recently introduced their oxygen infusions, inhalations and skincare products in India. At the launch Collen Chan, regional director, Asia and Middle East, Intraceuticals says, 'Intraceuticals Oxygen Infusion Therapy' is a non-invasive treatment breakthrough to address fine lines, wrinkles and overall hydration."

About the treatment

The treatment is for every gender and age group. Chan says, "From a teenager who wants a small pout in her lips to a woman who wants to get rid of wrinkles or men who wish to have a youthful look, these infusions are for all."...

Elaborating on the four key steps of the treatment Chan says, "The practitioner will turn on hyperbaric oxygen supply and spray the serum onto the skin... and complete the treatment with proper hyaluronic layering with the treatment support products."

The standard protocol is to start with 6 weekly treatments to rebuild the condition of the skin; upon completion of the 6 treatments, monthly treatments may be scheduled for maintenance purposes.

Other products

Intraceuticals currently has four product lines:

Rejuvenate: It is made to enhance the body's natural moisture contents and supplement the production of collagen fibre to reduce the appearance of fine lines and wrinkles and restore the elasticity to the skin.

Opulence: Provides younger, brighter, more radiant and uneven skin pigmentation improvement.

Atoxlene: It is specialised in smoothing the appearance of fine lines and wrinkles, with similar effect to cosmetic injections.

Clarity: It focuses on acne and blemish control, the impurities and inflammation are banished leaving an anti-bacterial environment for calm clear skin.

