

cream

a cooler blend of pop culture

"I love the treatment and so does my face," says Madonna of the new O2 IntraCeuticals 'oxygen facial'. So we're not surprised the treatment is taking the beauty industry by storm. The star's personal facialist, Michelle Peck, was in Australia recently to push O2, promising us that "the application of the serum with oxygen promotes the acceleration of cellular growth giving a finer younger-looking outer-layer on the face".

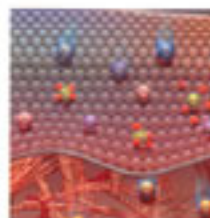

Booking ourselves into Marie Gai beauty salon in Rushcutter's Bay, we experienced the treatment for ourselves and admittedly, the changes were instantly noticeable.

According to Michelle, "Improvement happens thanks to the serum making its way into the skin via hyperbaric pressure. It plumps, firms and tightens skin, minimising pores and helping to erase fine lines and wrinkles." Phew, all that and with a non-invasive technique.

When asked what condition her client Madonna's skin is close up, Michelle says "flawless", having us believe the O2 treatment really is more than just Hollywood fad and hot air. But don't just take our word for it; give it a go yourself.

+

=

