

NATIONAL ACADEMY OF TELEVISION
ARTS & SCIENCES

ABOUT THE ACADEMY

INTRACEUTICALS HAS PRIMETIME EMMY® GLAMOUR IN THE BAG

Intraceuticals Atoxelene™ Line Wand has been chosen to be in the this year's Performers Nominee Gift Bag which will be given to Performers at the Nominee Reception on August 25 at the Pacific Design Center in West Hollywood.

When your busy, hectic life starts to take its toll on skin the challenge is to find a product that gives undernourished, dry skin a youthful glow. There's a new fast and convenient treatment that is only the size of a pen and helps touch up your complexion without involving pain or mess. It's the O2 Intraceuticals Atoxelene™ Line Wand.

Oxygen therapy isn't just for Hollywood stars, now stars of the small screen are getting in on the act! This year the glam-on-the-go O2 Intraceuticals Atoxelene™ Line Wand is a gift for all 2006 Performer Nominees. The small screen starlets from all your favourite television shows, will have fresh glowing skin as they work the red carpet.

O2 Intraceuticals, the maker of the famous oxygen therapy O2 Intraceuticals Infusion™, already boasts a celebrity clientele that includes Madonna and Heather Locklear. The best news yet – you can be part of this celebrity secret.

Your first option is the ultimate handbag accessory, just like the Emmy nominees. O2 Intraceuticals Atoxelene™ Line Wand provides an instant oxygen boost to the skin reducing fine lines and wrinkles without the pain of injections in a portable, convenient pen. The in-depth hydration improves elasticity and texture – perfect for anyone on the go.

Alternatively visit a beauty salon and ask for the O2 Intraceuticals Infusion™ which is a non-invasive 30 minute treatment that helps visibly reduce the appearance of fine lines and blemishes, leaving skin looking and feeling years younger. Oxygen therapy has never been so easy, safe and painless - now your skin can glow like the stars.